Dear Mr.Majdabadi:

As you know, Regional Organization for the Protection of the Marine Environment (ROPME) is an organization to coordinate the Member States efforts towards protection of the water quality in ROPME Sea Area and to protect the environment systems as well as marine living and further to abate the pollution caused by the development activities of the Member States.

ROPME Sea Area is shared by Bahrain, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and UAE.

International Conference on Environmental Challenges in the ROPME Sea Area is convened by ROPME as a platform for presenting and exchanging information obtained through these different monitoring and research activities in the ROPME Sea Area. On an assessment of the progress achieved over several decades through the diverse programmes, the Conference is expected to reflect on emerging challenges and develop a future course of action on the domain.

This conference will be held from 3 March to 6 March 2013 in Kish Island, I.R of Iran.

ROPME desires to benefit from Japanese companies' capabilities and other Far East countries and this conference will create good opportunities for them to develop their market in this region.

These companies can participate in the conference through sponsoring and exhibition.

in this regards, ROPME wishes to elect you as their agent to coordinate arrangements of registration of interested companies for exhibition and sponsoring.

Also you can see more information about ROPME and the conference in www.ropme.org
Sincerely,

Dr.Nabi Bidhendi
Dean of Faculty of Environment, University of Tehran
